MONEY

The Uganda Shillings is the official currency used and issued as 1,000, 2,000, 5,000, 10,000, 20,000 and 50,000 notes. The shilling breaks down into 50, 100, 200 and 1000 coins. Change can be hard to find 50,000 notes.

MONEY TRANSACTIONS

There is a wide array of banks and forex (foreign currency exchange) bureaux to choose from, with several international banks represented (Barclays, Standard Chartered, Stanbic). The US dollar and the pound sterling are the strongest currencies used in Uganda and are the easiest to exchange. US dollar notes dated prior to 1997 are turned away, we recommend if you are using US$ to bring notes issued not earlier than 2000. Also, notes smaller than US$50 attract a far lower exchange rate. All forex bureaux take cash – so please look around for the best exchange rate. We suggest you bring cash and/or credit cards with you as opposed to traveler's cheques, as the exchange rate (on traveler's cheques) is much lower.

You can change money on your way in at the airport, because it is convenient, however, be aware that the airport is currently not as competitive as forex bureaux's in Kampala. Try to have all your cash needs arranged before leaving Kampala if you can.

CREDIT CARDS

Despite what some guidebooks claim, credit cards are not widely accepted and where they can be used, mainly with the larger hotels and companies, hefty surcharges are common. Barclays Bank (open Mon-Fri, 9.00 am – 3.00 pm), however, offers cash advances against credit cards with a small surcharge. With Visa cards you can withdraw money in at least one ATM in Kampala's Garden City shopping mall. With MasterCard cards you can withdraw money in Barclay Bank's main office, opposite the main post office in Kampala. There are also many other ATM points around the city. Information can be obtained from the bank branches. American express cards are not accepted.

TIME

Kampala is two hours behind Australian Eastern Standard Time, eight hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time, 16 hours ahead of US Pacific Time and 13 hours ahead of US Eastern Standard Time. This means that, if it 12 noon in Kampala, it is 2pm in Sydney; 4am in London; and 11pm the previous day in New York. Kampala time is East African Time.

TELEPHONE

Card phones are the cheapest way to phone for local and long distance calls and not all phone booths allow international calls. The country code for Uganda is 256; there is no city code needed while making local calls, just dial the eight digit number.

Local SIM cards are easily available and are offered as you arrive at Entebbe International Airport. You will be required to register with the telecom company for your safety.

UGANDA POST OFFICE

The postal system is efficient. Use envelopes of an approved size.

CLIMATE

Located astride the equator Uganda enjoys tropical climate. Kampala is usually sunny most of the year, with temperatures rarely rising above 29°C. The heavy rainy season is March-May, light rainy season November-December; June is usually dry, but showers can still be expected. Kampala can generally be visited all year round.

UGANDA VISAS

All visitors who need a visa to Uganda can obtain them at Uganda missions abroad or on arrival at the country's exit/entry stations. Check if you require an entry visa.

A Single entry visa is valid for three months from the date of issue and costs £25 (in the UK) or $50, a six-month multiple entry visa costs £65 (sixty five pounds). Other categories of multiple entry visas (12 months, 24 months & 36 months) can be applied for at the Ministry of Internal Affairs, Kampala. Information on these other categories can be got on the Ministry of Internal Affairs' website: www.mia.go.ug.

CUSTOMS AND QUARANTINE

A customs form must be completed on arrival. Prohibited items include ..... Cash over a stated value .....

must be declared. If you purchase antiques in Uganda, you don't need to obtain a certificate of authenticity to allow it to be exported.

DEPARTURE TAX

Departure taxes are included on the cost of the ticket during the time of issuing, only to international passengers who intend to come to Uganda, it's always good to check with your travel Agency while issuing your ticket.

LANGUAGE

The official language in Uganda is English. Luganda and Swahili are also widely spoken in the city. Though many Ugandans do not speak Swahili at all, it is a common African trade language. Dozens of African languages are spoken in Kampala, the most common being Luganda.

ELECTRICITY

The voltage is 220/240 volts. British-style plugs with three pins are used.

BUSINESS HOURS

Government offices are open from 08:00hrs to 17:00hrs, Monday to Friday, closing for lunch from 13:00hrs to 14:00hrs. Bank hours vary from bank to bank but most are open from 08:30hrs – 14:30hrs Monday to Friday. Only some are open on Saturdays.

Shops are generally open from 08:00hrs to 19:00hrs, Monday to Friday and 08h00 to 13:00hrs on Saturdays.

INTERNET

Most hotels have Internet and Internet cafes are easily found, many coffee shops have wireless internet. Kampala is at saturation point in the number of internet cafes open to the public which has driven surfing rates cheap.

FOOD AND DRINK

Uganda with its agricultural resources, combined with the conducive climate, produces a wide range of food products. Bananas, millet, maize, sorghum, rice, wheat, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes and cassava grow in abundance. Fruits and other vegetables are also plentiful - watermelon, passion fruits, pineapples, mangoes, tomatoes, aubergine, green peppers. These can be bought from roadside stalls, Nakasero Market and the many shopping malls in the city.

Tea and coffee is readily available almost everywhere and the latest craze is coffee houses or cafes. Soda (Coke, Fanta, Sprite, bitter lemon, etc) are sold by the (glass) bottle, which are returnable and recycled. Local beer (lagers only) are as good as any international beer and there are many to choose from – Bell, Club, ESB, Pilsner, Nile Special, Eagle, Castle, Guinness (all brewed in Uganda).

NEWSPAPERS

The New Vision, Daily monitor are printed on a daily basis. They have more useful visitor information over the weekend.

HOLIDAYS

Being in the heart of Africa, it is interesting that many of the festivals and holidays celebrated in Uganda are of Christian roots. Although the British have had a major impact on the country, certain celebrations have survived from pre-European times.

Holidays such as Christmas and Easter are celebrated throughout Uganda, and are considered public holidays. The end of December can be an interesting time to visit the country, as Christmas and New year's carry a different flair in Uganda. Below are the official calendar holidays of the year.

Culture & Arts

CULTURE

Kampala can be considered the centre of Uganda's culture. It is home National museum, theatres, architectural monuments and universities. The cuisine in Kampala has been influenced by cooking techniques from all over world. However, few Kampala restaurants do feature some dishes that are unique or characteristic of Uganda. Also famous is the Rolex, which is a mixture of fried eggs, tomatoes, cabbages and sometimes meet, all wrapped in fried dough commonly known as Chapati, this is sold on roadside stalls. Kampala is also the center of the Ugandan art scene. There are a number of galleries exhibiting the work of modern and contemporary artists. Famous traditional crafts markets are in the city offer you a wide range of African crafts. These range from metal works, hand-carvings, and paintings to mention.

HISTORY OF KAMPALA IN A NUTSHELL

Initially Mutesa I, the Kabaka (King) of Buganda, had chosen the area that was to become Kampala as one of his favorite hunting grounds. The area was made up of hills and wetlands. It was an ideal breeding ground for various wild animals, particularly a species of antelope, and the impala, in whose name the city was named Kampala (the area of Impalas). The city grew as the capital of the Buganda kingdom, from which several buildings survive, including the Kasubi Tombs (built in 1881), the Lubiri Palace, the Buganda Parliament and the Buganda Court of Justice. Severely damaged in the Uganda-Tanzania War, the city has since then been rebuilt with constructions of new buildings including hotels, banks, shopping malls, educational institutions, hospitals and improvement of war torn buildings and infrastructure. Traditionally, Kampala was a city of seven hills, but over time it has come to have a lot more. Kampala was initially built on seven hills, although this is now the city has spread over several hills and villages beyond Kampala boundaries. The earliest hills included;

1. Kasubi Hill, this is home to Kasubi Tombs where the decade's kings of Buganda are buried.
2. Mengo Hill where the present Lubiri (Kabaka's Palace) is and the Headquarters of the Buganda Court of Justice and of the Lukiiko, Bugand's Parliament (Bulange).
3. Kibuli Hill, which is home to the Kibuli Mosque. Islam was brought to Uganda before the Christian missionaries came.
4. Namirembe Hill, home to the Namirembe Anglican Cathedral. The Protestants were the first of the Christian Missions to arrive.
5. Lubaga Hill, where the Rubaga Catholic Cathedral is, and was the headquarters of the White Fathers.
6. Nsambya Hill, was the Headquarters of the Mill Hill Mission. It now houses Nsambya Hospital.
7. Kampala Hill, (also known as Old Kampala), the hill of the Impala is where the ruins of Lugard's Fort are. Its also the seat of one of Africa's biggest mosque. This hill is where Kampala got its name.

The city has now spread to cover many hills including Nakasero Hill, Tank Hill, Mulago Hill is the site of Mulago Hospital, the largest hospital in Uganda.

GETTING ABOUT BUS /COACHES

Several bus companies offer direct lines between Kampala and neighbouring countries have stations in the city. A night bus from Kampala could start at 16:00hrs to arrive at 06:00hrs in Nairobi.

Uganda has decent bus system. There are two classes of buses. The "matatu taxis" are actually minibuses or commuter vans which run fixed routes. Then there are the real buses which run less frequently, usually leaving Kampala early in the morning. There are many companies which almost all leave from the same general area. Domestic bus travel is reasonable and cheap between major centers, and is a good choice for backpackers with time, but may not run reliably on schedule.

Note that both buses and "taxis" do not run on fixed schedules; rather, they leave their terminus stop when they are completely full. On heavily-travelled routes they fill up within minutes and this is not a problem, but on less-travelled routes (or if getting on a large bus), be prepared to wait a while before departure.

TAXI

The best way to get around Kampala city and the neighbouring towns is by using minibus-type taxis called matatus. This is the most efficient and cost-effective method of transportation in urban areas, but try not to get ripped off by the conductors as they sometimes try to overcharge tourists. The Matatus are crowded, cheap, frequent, and make lots of stops.

They run along fixed routes, picking up and dropping off people on allocated stages along the route. If you want to get on, stand at the side of the road and wave your arm. To get off, say "stage" and the driver will pull over and let you off. They're not marked with destinations, so you'll have to listen to the destinations that the drivers are yelling out the window or in the designated taxi parks in the City.

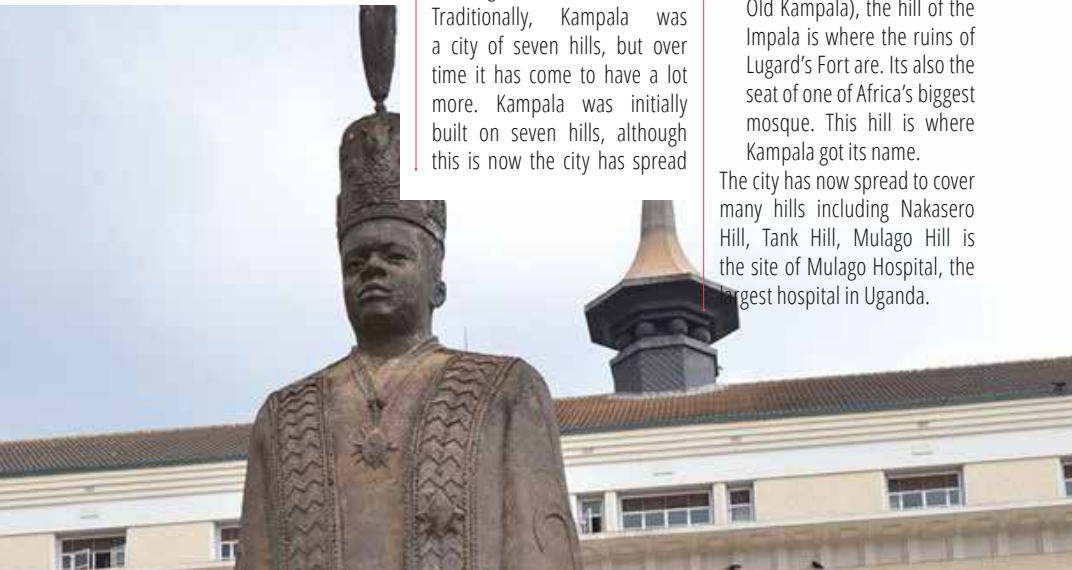

If you're not sure where to catch a taxi going to your destination, just ask a nearby driver or conductor, and they'll probably be able to point you in the right direction. Taxis, called special hire taxis, are available in the city. Fares are negotiable over long distances.

CAR

The roads in Kampala are good. When planning to move around Kampala it is best not to ask how far it is but to ask how long it will take. Local drivers normally have a good idea of how long journeys will take. There saloon vehicle hire companies in the city. This will cost upwards of US$50.00 per day (not including fuel).

BODA BODA

In Kampala, the boda-boda is a good way to get from place to place. These are small motorcycles or scooters with cushions on the back and are cheap transport as used by locals. You will definitely wish to try them.

This Kampala attraction has two major components namely the National Theatre. In 1952 a delegation of Theatre enthusiasts had an audience with Sir Andrew Cohen- then Governor and persuaded him to set up the first committee to investigate the feasibility and desirability of building a centre for annual festival of the then existing groups. This committee came out with a report and recommendations that a Hall with a seating capacity of sixty be built, but after further consultations with drama lovers the number was increased to 460.

A MUST TO WATCH!

If you're interested in traditional dance and music, try to catch a performance of the Ndere Troupe. It's composed of members of the many ethnic groups in Uganda and has gained international acclaim on world tours. The troupe has a new base in Ntinda, the Ndere Centre, out beyond the Blue Mango, which includes an auditorium, a restaurant-bar and even some accommodation. Performances take place every Sunday at 18:00 and are inexpensive.

Need a Laugh? At dark Kampala also offers comedy theme nights in clubs and theatres.

There are many comedy outfits that will crack you up with typical Ugandan humor and international humor. A show normally ranges from 10,000 to 30,000 depending on the group and venue. One thing you should be sure for is hurting ribs.

Restaurants

Kampala restaurants reflect diversity in the way of life in Kampala that has made the city a unique and exciting place to eat. As the capital of Uganda, flavours and traditions from all over the country, as well as the world, have migrated to the city.

Specialty restaurants from different parts of the world offering the finest cuisines; Indian, Chinese, Lebanese, Italian, Turkish, Greek, Mexican, Cuban, Thai, Mediterranean, afro Caribbean, Japanese, Belgian and more. And if you love coffee, you are at the source. As one of the leading coffee producers in the world, our city has some of the finest coffee shops. This wide variety of options makes eating in Kampala a special experience.

Restaurants vary from street stand, to family operations to internationally recognise. Most local restaurants have an attendant who will appear to explain the menu to the customer.

Though influenced by many different cuisines, Kampala has several characteristic dishes. The most famous is the Luwombo, any choice of the sauce prepared by steaming in banana leaves. Served with a variety of foods ranging from plantains, tubers, rice and more. This is mostly served in local restaurants and offer an excellent experience to diners.

Kampala is also famous for its on-the-street food stalls. These vendors sell many delicacies ranging from beef skewers, grilled chicken, plantains, Rolex and more. The best place to sample Kampala's street food, from the mundane to the wild, is in the evening in Wandegeya and Kabalaga streets.

Rolex

Uganda's Tasty Delicacy

Rolex is a popular delicacy in Uganda which is combination of an omelette and vegetables wrapped within a chapati. The dish is quick to be prepare, and can be taken at any time of the day from breakfast to any other meal time. The word "rolex" comes from the idea that the chapati and the omelette are rolled together.

This Idea originated from a chapati sellers' creativeness at a Uganda University (Makerere University), fueled by students who needed a quick meal because of time and financial limitations.

However, the delicacy soon spread like fire all over Uganda. It is now very Useful food for people who may have time and financial limitations or for people who really enjoy tasty food.

There are other terms related to Rolex like; Titanic; Two chapatis and more, making up a Rolex. Kikomando; Chapati cut into slices and mixed with beans. (Kikomando means eating a fast, cheap meal like a commando/war hero or (commando style). It can also mean some one not afraid to get dirty by eating a cheap meal.

HAVE A TASTE OF Luwombo UGANDA'S TRADITIONAL CUISINE

Oluwombo or luwombo is a traditional dish of Uganda. It is both a royal dish and a fairly common dish cooked especially during the holidays. It was originally created in 1887 by the personal chef of Kabaka Mwanga, an interesting king who ruled the kingdom of Buganda (Uganda region where the country got its name from) at the end of the nineteenth century. Kabaka Mwanga had 16 women and 10 children. This dish can be prepared with beef, chicken, pork or goat.

The addition of smoked fish is optional but I think it that is what makes this dish so special. There are recipes that use smoked meat instead. Cooking in banana leaf is actually what gives this dish that unique taste.

Luwombo is a delicacy where chicken, beef, ground nuts, dry fish or any other sauce is tied-up in a banana leaf and steamed over matooke or any other staple in banana leaves or a steamer.

Shopping

Kampala is an exciting city for shoppers as everything you may need is readily available. Trendy style from various fashion capitals of the world, groceries, electronics, households, gifts and more.
Most shopping in Kampala is concentrated in shopping malls and upmarket is large chain supermarkets and shopping centres.

You can have an interesting mix of old and new, African and Western, sophisticated and basic when it comes to shopping in Kampala. In parts of the city there are markets and a few minutes away you can find a towering office block and a shopping complex offering designer labels and high tech computing equipment. The range of goods available is the widest on offer in Uganda so if you need anything specialist or luxury it's always best to purchase it whilst in Kampala rather than hope to find it elsewhere.

For Ugandan products, and essentials such as vegetables and fruit, it's not worth visiting the more expensive western style shops, as the prices will be higher and the goods will have been sourced locally anyway.

SHOPPING CENTRES

Plenty of modern and 'western' style shops exist in purpose built complexes such as Garden City, Nakkumat, Forest Mall, Lugogo Mall that are designed with richer Ugandans and foreign visitors in mind. They all have the feel and atmosphere of typical western shopping malls, with a mix of supermarkets, luxury goods and fast food outlets.

If you want luxury goods, especially European and American brands, then the following malls are probably your best bet if you like to do all your shopping in one place.

- Garden City Complex
- Quality Supermarket
- Capital Shoppers (Nakasero, Ntinda)
- Uchumi (Kabalaga, Bukoto, Entebbe Road and Bugolobi)
- Nakumatt Oasis Mall
- Shoprite (Lugogo, Entebbe Road)
- Lugogo Mall
- Acacia Mall
- Payless
- Standard Supermarket near old tax park

MARKETS

Kampala's markets are a great place for bargain hunters. If you want to get the best buys available, there is one rule to bear in mind: you have to haggle. Local vendors are notorious for jacking up their prices when dealing with foreign tourists, so haggling is expected. Haggling can save you 20% or more on what you pay.

One of the biggest markets in town is in Nakasero Market this can give an African adventure shopping areas in local markets. Nakasero Market is Kampala's most famous market and is just below Kampala Rd. You can find fresh fruits and vegetable in, it is divided into two areas, one partially covered, where produce is sold, and another located in an attractive old building, where hardware, clothes and even a few tourist items are on sale.

Owino Market

This is the busiest market in Kampala, which sprawls around the Nakivubo Stadium, near the taxi parks. Here you can find all sorts of goods for sale, but it is most popular with travellers for its wide range of second-hand clothes from Europe, Asia and the USA. Bargain hard, as they tend to raise the prices when mzungus (white people) are sniffing around. The name originated from a certain Owiny from Northern Uganda who used to sell roasted cassava, maize and potatoes. The phrase, "Let me go down to Owiny's place" was often heard and so the name became synonymous with the market. You will constantly hear someone calling "Fasi Fasi!" which is Lugandan for 'give way', Walking through the dense maze of alleys filled with noise, congested with people, and packed with anything, and everything, you could want to buy is an experience in its own. Other markets are Usafi and Wandegaya Markets.

Your first stop when craft shopping should always be the craft markets and there are several in and around Kampala city, that sell authentic, good quality African arts and craft is a favorite with tourist and Kampalians mainly because of its location. Located in the heart of Kampala city on Buganda Road, this craft market has several stalls that sell all kinds of African crafts and souvenirs. Most stalls in the market sell the same items so the bargaining prowess of the shopper determines the price at which they take those African sandals home.

CRAFT AFRICA

Also on Buganda Road, it has various stalls that sell numerous African crafts like batiks, Masai. Security is taken seriously at both markets as there are guards at the entrance who check everyone that enters. Both markets are open seven days a week from Monday to Sunday and shops open from 8am to 6pm except on Public holidays when they are closed.

UGANDA ARTS AND CRAFTS VILLAGE

on Dewinton Road next to the National Theatre. This craft market is well organised and has a number of retail stalls arranged in a semi-circle that vend different art and crafts plus souvenirs. The clientele is mixed with a fair range of locals, foreigners and tourists. The Uganda Arts and Craft Village craft market also is open from 8pm to 6pm seven days a week except on public holidays.

For those who prefer to shop and buy in malls and shops there are a few sprinkled about town. Popular shops are in 1000 Cups Coffee House Craft Shop on Buganda Road, MishMash Craft Shop on Acacia Avenue and the popular Banana Boat retail store in Kisementi in Kamwokya, Garden City and Lugogo Malls. Shoppers will find prices fixed and higher but you will love the convenience.

NAMUGONGO MATYRS' SHRINE

This basilica is dedicated to 22 young Christian congregants who were brutally murdered between 1885-1887 by Kabaka Mwanga for their allegiance to christianity. They were beatified in 1920 by Pope Benedict XV and later canonized by Pope Paul VI in 1964. The 22 Martyrs are the only African saints to whom a basilica is dedicated and they are the largest group of saints ever canonized by the Catholic Church.

KIBULI MOSQUE

Kibuli Mosque is one of the biggest and oldest mosques in Uganda with a beautiful view over Kampala. For a small fee you can visit the mosque and the towers as well.

NAMIREMBE CATHEDRAL

When walking from Bulange - home to Mengo office, pay attention to the round-about - the straight road in the middle is for Kabaka's use only, as the local superstition says he must not turn a corner on this route. Half-way from the round-about towards Mengo, you will find a large garden on the right-hand side.

KAMPALA CITY MONUMENTS AND SCULPTURES

Kampala has many free and easy to access monuments that include those in the city center and a few on the outskirts. Don't leave Kampala without paying homage to these fabulous sculptures the country has to offer. Below is a list of monuments in Kampala.

THE INDEPENDENCE MONUMENT

The Independence Monument, standing majestically at a height of 6 metres, is a must see if you are travelling to Kampala. The monument situated in the heart of the capital between the Sheraton Kampala Hotel, Grand Imperial Hotel and Stan-Chart bank, is one of the most distinctive landmark of Uganda. Uganda's Independence Monument was constructed by former British Colonial Government just before Uganda celebrated its first independence on Tuesday 9th October 1962.

The monument depicts a man unwrapping a child and raising the child to touch the sky. The sculpture signifies a new born country let free from colonialism and bondages. Today with the beautification around the monument, you need to carry your camera for the memorable capture of the sight.

THE STRIDE MONUMENT

Situated between the Uganda Parliament Gardens and Kampala Serena Hotel, the Stride Monument, was built in commemoration of Uganda hosting the Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting (CHOGM) in 2007 and was unveiled by the Queen of England during the CHOGM summit. The Stride monument is estimated to be the most expensive monument in Uganda with the work of its construction costing the country over Ush150 million.

SIR EDWARD MUTESA II MONUMENT

The Sir Edward Mutesa II Monument is situated next to the Independence monument at the junction of Speke road and Nile Avenue. Overlooking the Post Office Kampala, the monument was built to pay tribute Edward Mutesa II (first president of Uganda) for his invaluable contribution to Uganda's independence.

WORLD WAR MEMORIAL MONUMENT

The World War Monument is reputed to be the oldest monument in Kampala. It was built in 1945 by the British colonial government. The monument standing at the Constitutional Square in Kampala near the fence of the Uganda High Court was built during the British era in memory of Uganda soldiers who died during the 1st and 2nd world wars. The 5ft monument is also depicted on the front side of the Uganda Shilling Five Thousand note (2010).

THE CENTENARY MONUMENT

The Centenary monument located at the popular Centenary Park in Kampala, along Jinja road and neighbouring Hotel Africana, was erected to commemorate a centenary of Kampala City Council's (the city planning and administrating body) existence and its contribution to social economic development of the city. The 6ft Centenary Monument of a treadmill protected by shields signifies progress. This memorial is also depicted on Twenty Thousand Uganda Shillings note (2010).

EDUCATION MONUMENTS

Most universities and a few colleges in Uganda have got at least a monument (s) symbolizing the role of education. The education monument at Kyambogo University in Kampala depicts three children striving to touch a book.

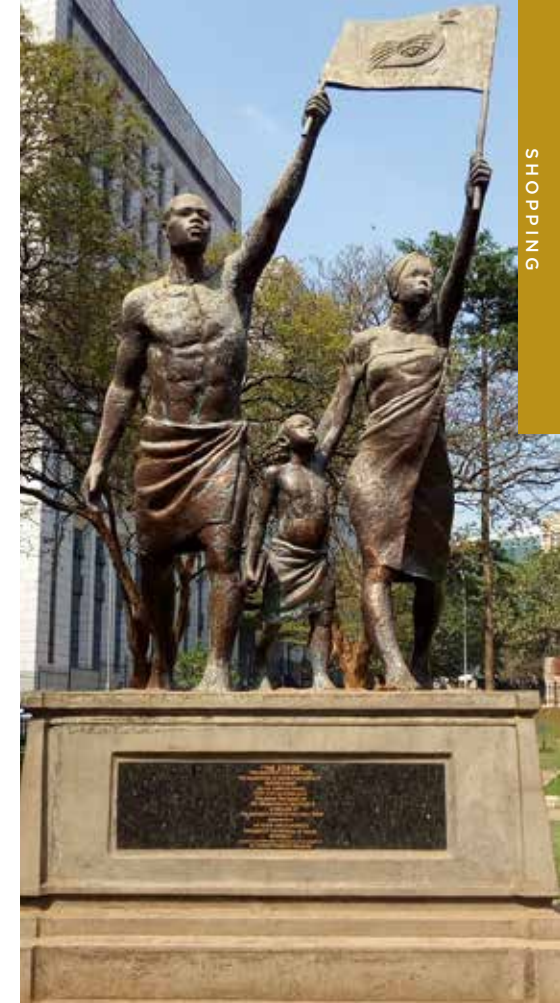

The monument was built in celebration of the 100 years of the education sector in Uganda

THE STATUE OF LEADERSHIP

The Statue of Leadership situated outside Amber House (Kampala road) may be considered as a celebration of one of Uganda's major milestones - the introduction of electricity. Situated overlooking the Kampala road, the Statue of Leadership sculpture depicts Sir Apollo Michael Kawalya Kaggwa, who is perhaps best known for his vision and foresight in accelerating the kingdom's development.

Those and many more can offer the art lovers a treat and the history of the city.

FUN ATTRACTIONS

WONDER WORLD AMUSEMENT PARK

For a decade, Kampala citizens and visitors have had a weekend experience that can include the whole family. This came about with the introduction of Wonder world Amusement Park in Kansanga.

Before, the few options included taking the family out to a soccer game with programmes like the Totos or Kampala Kids League. The park is huge. It has a movie theatre and a theatre auditorium, which are open any time during the week. The park boast of having East Africa's largest auditorium, although this is debatable. There are over 30 games and slides at Wonder world with children often spoilt for choice.
