

OUR PHILOSOPHY

- To create & sustain jobs for the disadvantaged- particularly women, people with disabilities, widows, orphans, and people living with HIV, thus improving their living standards.
- To train & mobilize groups in the basics of craft production, book keeping and quality management.
- To be innovative, encouraging creativity and ingenuity in designs, colors, patterns and materials.
- To preserve traditional African cultures and craft production.
- To retail & export quality products.
- To run our business according to Fair Trade principles of paying a fair wages promptly, respecting the environment, empowering the marginalized, training and building skills and trading honestly and transparently.

Nubian wall hanging made of disi & papyrus or grass. 12" across. The Nubians have a unique sub culture as seen in their distinct crafts.

ARTISANS

This is one of our many basket weavers, Allen Kafumbirwango, a single mother of seven children.

"I really enjoy my work as a basket weaver because I can raise tuition fees for my seven children, I am able to rent a house and I try to afford the medical expenses for my family. I thank Uganda Crafts 2000 for finding markets for our products and for mobilizing us in working groups. My dream is to save money to be able to build a house for me and my children."

This is Yekosofati Buwembo, a disabled father, married with 4 children. He makes huts using bark cloth and spear grass, in which he creatively depicts African homesteads and stories. He is able to send his children to school, manage his home and buy clothing because of his craft.
